The USA Men's Junior All-Americans will play the Irish Exiles on Wednesday. Ealing Trailfinders Rugby Club have hosted the team and this match will mark the end of the JAAs' five-day training camp in advance of the Junior World Rugby Trophy that will kick off on May 24.

The Exiles are the fifth Irish Provience and are funded by the Irish Rugby Football Union. They draw their player base from Irish qualified players living in the UK. The Exiles have produced some 20 full Irish Internationals, including Simon Easterby and Rob Henderson both. Recent USA scrumhalf Robbie Shaw played for the Exiles at the U18 and *21 level. The squad for tomorrow evening includes some three of this year's Ireland U18 team, and two Ireland U19 Internationals.
