New York Athletic Club visits Life University in a preseason friendly this weekend.

It's an important run out for NYAC, which has spent a lot of time trying to train in rough winter weather. Life has had much more outside time, but that's not the only factor influencing the outcome of this game.

Life has added some new players, including points machine AJ MacGinty from NYAC. He will likely slot in at flyhalf and in doing so will have an advantage in that he knows how NYAC operates.

[redacted]